Melanie, 18 years old

I am wearing a dark blue jeans dress, black boots and a jacket. I like wearing hats. I dress the way I feel right now. I prefer classic things. At work we have to wear black trousers and black shoes. The top can be green, white or in natural colours, but preferably black. I don't want to be provocative with my appearance, but I do want to attract attention. I grew up in a small village. At the age of 13 we all had the same look: "Streetlook" with wide trousers and sweaters. Girls and boys ran around dressed the same. We didn't wear fancy clothes. Then I started to work and came to a big city. There were new shops and new influences.

Paul 16 years old

I'm wearing jeans and combat boots. I treated the jeans with chlorine. I bought my army jacket three years ago in a second-hand shop. Today it is a small work of art. I attached parts to it that I found. At home I have many colorful T-shirts, a pair of red trousers and one in neon orange. At work, I don't wear these clothes, it's too provocative. I don't like violence: People should see that there are other young people as well. My parents accept that. My mother even helped me with my hairstyle.

Judith 15 years old

Chucks are my favorite shoes. I have red and blue ones. I find knee socks warm and cool. At the moment, I prefer to wear a green top. On my jacket there are different pins and patches. I wear my hair in a Rockabilly style. I dye (= teins) them red and black every month. These are my favourite colours. I always mix different styles. So I put my own style together. I want to get a colorful tattoo with flowers on my arm. I buy a lot of things in second-hand shops or gothic boutiques. I make some pieces myself. It's important to me that you recognize me in the crowd. I have always been an outsider. I have no desire for superficial, immature types. Girls of the same age and old grandmas often look at me badly. But I don't care. My parents like my style.

Mano, 18 years old

My favorite pants are blue jeans. I like to wear a long sleeved shirt under a T-shirt. I like it to be practical. At home I have lots of T-shirts. I also have a suit in my closet even if I don't wear it very often. My boss is very tolerant. I think you should dress as you like. My father doesn't like my style. He says: "Buy something decent for yourself", so that I look like him. My favourite music is punk rock.

Nora, 16 years old

I usually wear red and white chucks. I wear an old college jacket with my camo pants. I think it's important that everything matches in color. I dye (= teints) my hair black. My clothes are practical and fancy. Most of them come from second-hand shops. I don't have any fashion models. I think it's stupid for the masses to copy fashion styles from fashion scene.
